An Englishman, beating all records, travels four miles a minute in his automobile on the sands of Florida.

Airplanes have gone six miles a minute.

What will be the ultimate speed at which men will travel around the earth?

Probably about as fast as the sun seems to travel in its journey from east to west, 1,000 miles an hour.

Giant planes will travel in the thin atmosphere, high up above storm and wind, with no motion of the air except a gentle breeze to the east, caused by the rotation of the earth. They will make their own repairs in the air, staying up perhaps two or three years at a time, dropping passengers in smaller airships at their various destinations.

Dr. Einstein, scientific puzzle of the century, refers to the great scientists of this period as his "forerunners" leading up to his incomparable achievement.

These thus disposed of include Professor Michelson of Chicago. How high Dr. Einstein will stay in the estimation of science one hundred years hence, no one knows. But it is not at all certain that his services to science will be found equal to those of Professor Michelson, the of actual, concrete achievement.

It was Professor Michelson who first measured exactly the length of a ray in the spectrum, establishing permanent, exact measurement for all time.

It was he who corrected measurement of the speed of light, "yard stick" of the universe, essential to all astronomical calculations. And Michelson, in an experiment of infinite delicacy and difficulty, established the rigidity of the earth, about equal to that of a solid ball of steel, 25,000 miles round.

Dr. Einstein's recent announcement that he revises his opinions on the universe, which he had formerly circumscribed and limited arbitrarily, is important.

After talking with the gathering of American scientists in Los Angeles, he changed his personal arrangement of the universe, showing that his conclusions were not based on positive knowledge.

Nobody has ever changed anything in Newton's formula, "directly as the mass and inversely as the square of the distance."

Considering that people of the Jewish race make up less than one half of one per cent of earth's population, it is interesting to note that the two greatest living scientists are probably Michelson and Einstein both Jews.

Others may excel them in certain branches, Jeans and Eddington in astronomy, for instance. But a vote of all the scientists in the world would place Einstein and Michelson at the top.

Calvin Coolidge, whose writings have made his name better known than ever, tells his readers that "the problem of agriculture has seemed so much the disposition of surplus production, that very little

Rev. Seibert will deliver the dedicatory address while greetings and congratulatory talks will be given by visiting pastors representing Lutheran church congregations throughout Northeastern Ohio. Special musical programs will also feature the ceremonies.

Marking the opening of the new edifice, members of the Salem congregation will gather for worship at 11 a. m. Sunday. The service will be held in the Sunday school rooms of the church with Rev. Joseph Sittler, D. D., of Columbus, president of the Lutheran Synod of Ohio, as the speaker.

Hundreds of churchgoers from Salem and vicinity are expected at both services, Rev. Seibert and Rev. Sittler being outstanding in religious activities throughout the country. Large crowds are also anticipated at services which will be held all next week at the church.

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor, today announced the week's program as follows:

Girl Blinded By Lightning Flash

(By Associated Press)

BALDWIN, Kas., Feb. 7.—Lightning blazed as Miss Helen Beauchamp, 19, Baker university co-ed, watched a rainstorm through a window here yesterday and she turned away blind.

Physicians said the flash caused optical paralysis. They expressed the belief her sight would be restored when the eye muscles relaxed.

First Candidate Seeks Mayor's Job

(By Brush-Moore Leased Wire)

EAST LIVERPOOL, Feb. 7.—Marking the first entry in the Aug. 2 primaries, O. J. Herrington, 32, retail butter dealer and former councilman, today filed his declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination.

Herrington was runner-up in the primaries two years ago when Robert Stevenson was nominated. Stevenson, in turn, was defeated in the November election by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, Democrat.

FOUR OHIOANS ARE KILLED IN CROSSING CRASH

Automobile Is Struck By Freight Locomotive At Hamilton

(By Associated Press)

HAMILTON, O., Feb. 7.—Three of the four persons killed at a crossing here today when their automobile was struck by a freight train were identified as Hamilton residents. The fourth victim was believed to have lived at Dayton.

The dead were Mrs. Emily Collins, 26, a divorcee; her sister, Sallie Jones, 25, John A. Hines, all of Hamilton and Herbert H. Campbell, 45, Dayton. Hines was the father of several children.

The accident occurred scarcely half an hour after the Baltimore and Ohio freight left the Cincinnati yards for Lima. J. A. T. Reiker, Lima, (532 West Grand ave.) was engineer of the train.

Police said the auto was ground to bits by the fast moving freight. The bodies of three victims were mangled and picked up in baskets.

Relatives of Mrs. Collins and Miss Jones said the quartet had attended a theater party at Cincinnati and were returning to Hamilton when they were killed.

RAIN, SNOW AID DROUGHT AREAS

Parched Middle West Welcomes Moisture; More Expected Today

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Favored by nature with moisture, farmers in many sections of the parched midwest were hopeful today that the backbone of the three month's drought had been broken.

Reports from various sections of middle-America last night told of rain or snow and the weather man held out further hope with a prediction for more moisture today. The prediction was for rain or snow in many parts of Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, and North Dakota, with a possibility of showers in some sections of Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, and South Dakota.

There was a veritable downpour in some localities in Illinois and was welcomed particularly in the southern part of the state, where 250,000 residents in more than a score of communities have been apprehensive of a serious threat to their water supply. Farmers at Pana, in the Central Illinois region, said the rain came just in time to save late sown wheat. Snow and sleet prevailed in sections of Iowa and Wisconsin, with rains in Oklahoma, Kansas, and a part of Nebraska.

C. E. Donnell, Chicago weather bureau forecaster said, however, that it was too early to predict how valuable the rain and snow would be.

Senae Peace Established Following Relief Agreement

New Cooperation Between Regular Republicans And Democrats Looms; Hope To Avoid Extra Session

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Prospects for avoiding a special session of congress were better today than at any time in weeks.

An agreement was reached late yesterday on relief legislation, satisfactory to all major groups in both senate and house and represented as bearing the approval of President Hoover. This snapped the tension in congress, cleared the major obstacle from the path of the necessary appropriation bills and led to the establishment of a new co-operation between regular Republicans and Democrats in the senate, in the interest of a peaceful solution of remaining controversies.

Majority Assured

It was still too early for assurance that independent efforts would not be made in the remaining weeks to block legislation, but the willingness of the Democratic leaders to go along with the administration forces assured a majority of controlling proportions. The leaders are ready to take drastic action should a filibuster develop.

Conferees of the senate and house decided to complete formally this afternoon the agreement on a substitute for the $25,000,000 appropriation to the Red Cross which was the principal bone of contention.

The new plan calls for appropriation of additional $20,000,000 drought loan to be available for "agricultural rehabilitation."

Decision Up To Secretary

Whether farmers could borrow from it to buy food was not clearly stated, and the final decision would be left to the secretary of agriculture. Senate leaders believed the language broad enough. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic chief said he believed food loans "will be made." Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader pointed out:

"You cannot rehabilitate farms with dead farmers."

On the house side Republican leader Tilson said the plan "gets away from all ideas of a gratuity, or a dole, or charity because every dollar advanced on the loans will be secured."

Disposition of several of the appropriation measures which have been held up in the relief deadlock was anticipated for next week. A course of trouble, however, still rests in the plans for aiding veterans but there too, signs of an agreement appeared.

166 PASS TEST FOR STATE BAR

Five Stark Countians Are Listed Among Embryo Attorneys

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—The Ohio supreme court today announced that 166 of the 312 candidates for the bar in the state were admitted at the bar examination last Jan. 6, 7, and 8.

The number of successful applicants of the bar amounted to 53.2 per cent of the total applicants who took the examination and the failures were 46.8 per cent or 146 persons.

HARDING CASE COUNSEL WILL ASK NEW TRIAL

Plans To Try Other Suits Despite Municipality's Victory

(By Associated Press)

Attorneys for F. J. Harding, Salem, suing the city for $5,000 as an aftermath of the typhoid fever epidemic, today announced a motion for a new trial would be filed, the municipality having won a jury verdict yesterday afternoon in common pleas court.

Signed By Entire Jury

The verdict, coming after an hour's deliberation, was signed by the 12 members of the group.

In the event that the motion for a new trial is overruled, it was indicated by Harding's attorneys that the case would be taken to the appellate court.

This procedure, if followed, would be similar to action taken when the case first appeared. At that time the city won in common pleas also.

Will Try Other Cases

However, the decision was reversed in appeals court and the supreme court sent the case back to the county.

Counsel for Harding, also handling approximately a score of other suits of a similar nature, announced after the verdict was returned Friday afternoon that the other cases would go to trial.

He plans to leave about the middle of next week, stopping off for a day in Washington before proceeding to New York, and home.

Although not satisfied with his world's land speed record of 243.733 miles an hour, established here Thursday in his giant Bluebird racing car, Campbell said he would not make any more straightaway trials until some one bettered his mark.

MAY, DECEMBER PAIR IN COURT

Wedding of Man, 91, and Woman, 46, Is Questioned By The "Kid Brother", Only 87

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The wedding of Theodore Wells, 91, and Anna Naylor, 46, was under consideration by Judge Daniel P. Trude today following arguments in an annulment action instituted by Herbert Wells, 87, referred to by defense counsel as the older man's "kid brother."

Herbert Wells, who lives in Kingston, R. I., charged that Miss Naylor, who had been Theodore's nurse for 10 years, married Theodore last August for his money. He had inherited $60,000 from his first wife. The Rhode Island man also charged that his brother's bride had spent $7,500 of the inheritance.

Atty. Sidney Gorman, representing Mrs. Wells, told the court that she was not the type of woman who would "squander the money." "Anyway," he asserted, "the kid brother is probably jealous because Theodore has such an attractive wife."

30 ARE INJURED IN GAS BLAST

Five Seriously Hurt During Los Angeles Film Premiere

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—Thirty persons were injured, several seriously, and a panic in a theater audience of more than 2,000 was narrowly averted when an explosion in a power main in front of the Orpheum theater shook the building late last night.

So terrific was the blast that several persons standing in front of the theater were lifted into the air. A portion of the street was torn up and windows smashed.

The seriously injured: George Delk, 36, taxicab driver, fractured skull; Vito Vitullo, 25, actor, serious burns and lacerations; Betty Deter, 12; Earl William O'Dell, 27, Negro, and T. P. Ewing, 39, salesman. All sustained first degree burns.

Film Stars Present

A brilliant first night audience, augmented by the presence of more than 1,100 motion picture players, packed the theater for the premiere of "Cimarron." Many film stars were on the stage making personal appearances when the explosion shocked the theater.

Robert McWade, veteran state and screen actor, averted a panic. "Don't get excited folks," McWade cried. "That was just part of the celebration in my honor."

The audience laughed and grew calm.

The show goes on filed off in an orderly manner a short time later when squads of police and firemen took charge of the situation.

Delk's taxicab, parked in front of the theater and bearing a passenger, was hurled into the air, to hurtle down into a throng of persons at the entrance to the show house. The machine stood directly over a manhole, the cover of which burst through the car's flooring from the force of the explosion.

Blast Caused By Gas

The blast was due to accumulation of gas in the power main, according to H. E. Walker, member of the fire prevention bureau, attending the performance.

A patrolman, J. C. Strange, told of being blown high into the air by the blast.

"I felt myself leaving the ground and soaring upward," the officer said. "Then I landed in the midst of a crowd on the sidewalk." He was not seriously injured.

Buy Water Tank Car

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—The Hamilton county commissioners have bought an additional water tank car to supplement the four cars already in use supplying water to drought-stricken areas.

STEPS IN FRONT OF MACHINE ON MILLVILLE HILL

Stephen Popovich, 48, Succumbs Three Hours After Accident

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL BY DRIVER OF CAR

Mahoning County Coroner To Conduct Inquest Today

Stephen Popovich, 48, of Salem, was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Gustave Bonfert, 577 Columbia st., on the Millville hill, three miles east of Salem, at 8:30 p. m. Friday.

Skull Is Fractured

Popovich died four hours after the accident, having sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries. He died without regaining consciousness. City hospital attaches said today.

Bonfert, in reporting the accident to Salem police authorities, said that he did not see Popovich, who apparently stepped in front of the machine, until it had struck the man. The right front fender is said by police to have hit Popovich, throwing him to the brick pavement.

Accident Unavoidable

The accident occurred in Mahoning county. An inquest will be held by the Mahoning coroner this afternoon. Bonfert is not being held. The accident, police said, appeared to have been unavoidable.

Popovich is believed by police to have been a laborer for a construction company near Salem. He resided at the Salem house, West State st., and is said to have no relatives living in this city.

The body was taken to the Stark Memorial where funeral arrangements are being made today.

Speedy British

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Feb. 7.—The Englishmen come over again and showed us what speed really is. It wouldn't be so bad if they would break the records in their own country, but to come here and do it right under our very nose, and we are supposed to be so fast at everything.

That is just like us going to Oxford and speaking better English than they do.

Some American tried to assassinate Mussolini. We are in bad enough at home without some nut trying to get us in worse abroad. They are not going to get that Mussolini. He's too foxy even to get assassinated.

MAKING MEN

Scouting in America has come of age! A movement launched after an American, seeking an address in the fog filled streets of London, was given assistance by a youth who refused to accept a tip, is 21 years old.

The lad was a Boy Scout. So impressed was the man with this unusual and unselfish cooperation that he brought the idea back to America with him.

Sunday is the anniversary date. As scouts throughout the United States are doing, the 31 troops of Columbiana county will celebrate the event. A week's program begins Sunday with, appropriately, services in various churches. Expositions will be held in Salem Monday night and East Liverpool Friday night with a varied array of "in between" events arranged.

The Boy Scout movement is absolutely worth while. It has a distinctive appeal to youth. It has a glamor, the thrill needed to start young hearts beating, a rich, well defined and wisely administered program. To parents it possesses a deeper significance. They perceive in it the means of developing manhood and character as well as discipline and training which are so necessary, in some form or other, in young, enthusiastic lives. The boys who come within its scope of influence must absorb to some degree its multifarious benefits. It takes the place of the corner crowd that became gangsters. Energies which could be destructive are directed into useful channels.

It creates respect, builds men, develops character, promotes unselfishness, nurtures ambition and those youngsters who come into our care are given the chance, through it, to be what we want them to be.

It is more than a movement. It is a rapidly growing industry and its product is manhood.

END OF THE WEEK

Where will the United States keep the huge airship being built for it in Akron? Barring unforeseen delay it will be completed sometime next summer, but no appropriation for a hangar has been passed by congress and no present hangar is large enough. In the house of representatives the other day, legislation to appropriate $4,500,000 was considered, but some representatives couldn't understand why it should cost more than the ship itself and several million more than the one built by private enterprise at Akron. It's rather a disturbing question at that.

More news about Mussolini, but no American generals are named in it. Michele Schirru, arrested after a scuffle with Italian police has confessed that he was planning to kill the premier, but no attempt ever had been made. A recent interview with Mussolini disclosed the fact, incidentally, that he no longer sits in front of windows. His desk is placed between them and he sits with his back to a substantial stone wall. Another item in the price one has to pay for being powerful.

Scandal stories out of Hollywood will reach the high point of a decade ago if they keep coming at the present rate. Clara Bow's troubles have been aired, and now Buster Keaton and Kathleen Key have had trouble. Mr. Keaton is reputed to be a quiet, family man but Miss Keys, apparently, would have it otherwise. Will Hays may have to get busy again.

The American Snuff Co. reports a net income of $2,893,049 for 1930, equal to $3.76 a share. It is hard to teach old dogs new tricks, or are new dogs learning old tricks?

A college president in Memphis

Tenn. is fighting the never-ending battle that accompanies his position. The older generation, which supports the college, with its money, does not like the habits of the younger generation, which supports the college with its attendance. The president, taking the most difficult way, has thrown his influence on the side of the students. As a result, he is charged with mal-administration to say nothing of heresy. The odds are against him unless he can forget on which side his bread is buttered—or doesn't care.

Over in London, Jacob Epstein, American-born sculptor, is busy defending his statue "Genesis." Instead of representing the mother of mankind as a beautiful woman, sculptor Epstein had the temerity to make her ugly, almost simian. "I pursue my own ideas of beauty, not some one else's idea," he maintains stoutly. Playwrights whose "own" ideas do not agree with those of the audience usually are smart enough to change them.

And the pictures of Captain Malcolm Campbell, the world's reigning king of speed, look more like those of a successful business executive than a speed demon. Perhaps speed demons haven't been "typed" yet, though. The professor's still young.

What Others Say

THE INDIAN CRUCIBLE

Whether one thinks much or little of Mr. Gandhi and his Indian Nationalists, it is important to realize that their rejection of the round table conference's plan for a federal constitution does not, by any means, imply the failure of that plan or of India's rejection of it. It remains to be seen whether the Nationalists or the delegates to London speak for India. The British government had to free Gandhi and his lieutenants to decide this very important question. The Nationalists certainly show no inclination now to accept a compromise, but every sign of stiffening their campaign. But this is only the result of test, No. 1, not the final test. It now remains to be seen whether the Nationalists are the most powerful party in all India or simply the most articulate and demonstrative. If the Indian delegates returning from London are not completely overawed by the vociferous character of a renewed Swaraj campaign, they will feel more morally bound to march the conservatives and moderates whom they represented at the conference in support of the scheme they subscribed to there, and to do their best to convert or discredit the Gandhi opposition. This will be final test, a struggle between the extremists and the moderates for mastery of Indian opinion. Under the circumstances it would not be very surprising if the Indian government opened the lists even wider to give opportunity for a real "showdown," by releasing the whole army of Gandhi's political agitators, in response to his demand, so that he and his colleagues can plead no disabilities in the coming struggle—New York Herald Tribune.

Iodine Foods for Goitre

It is quite common to meet a woman who has a large swelling in the neck. This is due to a condition known as "Goitre." In front of the neck, just beneath the skin, is a gland called the "Thyroid Gland." When this gland is normal in size it is not noticeable, nor can it be felt. When enlarged it may assume huge proportions, becoming very conspicuous, particularly upon swallowing.

The thyroid gland absorbs the iodine contained in the blood. Iodine is converted by the thyroid gland into other substances, particularly a substance called "Thyroidin." This is an important process, essential for the normal operation of the body.

Disturbances of this gland result in various diseases. If the gland is over-active there may result an ailment known as "Exophthalmic Goitre." If it is under-active we may have undernourishment and even undermining of the constitution.

The most common disturbance of this gland is known as "Simple Goitre." This condition is due to a deficiency of iodine in the water or food. The gland increases in size and if not checked in its growth, there may result serious nervous disorders.

This condition is particularly common in the so-called "goitre districts." In these regions the iodine contents of the water is low. As soon as the deficiency is corrected, which is usually done by the feeding of iodine in some form, the enlargement of the gland rapidly disappears. In the goitre districts school-children are fed iodine tablets. In some cities iodine is actually added to the municipal water supply.

It is known that certain foods, notably salmon carry iodine. The vegetables raised in South Carolina are found to be high in iodine content. You should talk with your doctor about the feeding of your children particularly if they show any signs of goitre.

Besides those I have mentioned, there are other forms of thyroid disturbances. All of them require careful medical care and sometimes, in

VERY MUCH WORRIED

Q—How long will it take to definitely clear up "common itch"? I still have the rash and itching and have had the trouble about nine months?

A—With proper treatment and general care the trouble should be definitely cleared up within a reasonably short space of time. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

For Monday, Feb. 9

Monday's astrological forecast is fortunate for the growth of the possessions, real, personal and financial, with much stabilizing of the prospects of an independent nature, but holds precarious situations for these in the employment of others. Positions are in danger and should be safeguarded.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a year of growth, advancement and stabilizing of the fortunes through personal management and affiliations, but are in quite hazardous aspect if under the realm of employment. Possessions should increase through wise effort and judicious management. A child born on this day should be talented, hard-working and ambitious, but may succeed better on its own account than in the employment of others.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, Feb. 8

Sunday's horoscope favors all affairs if a mystical, spiritual or secret nature, but also holds menace of discord and misunderstanding in domestic or purely personal relations. This, however, does not apply to artistic or social activities or friendship.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which negotiations with large corporations or with secret bodies may flourish and bring desired prosperity and advancement, but too aggressive measures or impetuosity may prove to be undermining factors, especially to personal harmony and happy environment. A child born on this day may be endowed with many unusual talents of a business and social nature, particularly attaining its ends by stratagem and tact, although inclining to irascible and tumultuous impulses.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Most of my life I have been plagued by well-intentioned friends with a notion I am not getting enough exercise. They look upon me as a sedentary sap—a sort of human banacle attached to a desk chair. You'd think I had but one corpulence and it was snow white.

The fact is I can arise and with no more exercise than a walk from the bed to the bath and then to the dining room wolf a breakfast that would shame a stevedore. All these some 40 years my only concern about food is will my teeth hold out?

At 90 I expect them to be worn down to the gums and spend leisure hours snapping at vittles with jaw-bones. Almost daily some intimate breezes in from golf, squash or a horseback ride, puffing out his chest, slapping a thigh and giving me a pitying glance.

They seem to say: "You poor chicken-breasted weasel! All you do is sit hunched over a typewriter. What do you know about the great outdoors—the thrill of the hunt, the long drive on the green, the pungent odor of the pines and the zip of clean air?"

It strikes me as silly to pop out of bed the second you awaken, stand stiff legged and touch the floor 100 times or sprawl on your back and kick at the ceiling. When I open my eyes I like to think things over, get my days worrying done, then roll over for another nap.

Getting up in the morning should be a leisurely rite. A man should take time for his cold shower. There should be at least 15 minutes of indecision and musing over courage. I like to look out the window awhile, call up a few friends and chat—wise dilly-dally.

When I can delay no longer I sneak upon the shower, give the faucet a quick turn and chatter a few anguishes: "Omgawds! The same leisure should be achieved in dressing. Most of my friends dress like firemen, boasting they can do the job in, say six minutes.

Invariably I spend at least a half hour every morning looking for socks. No one can put them in such original places. I am what might be called a sock tucker. I have found one tucked under a radiator and another in the handkerchief pocket of my pajamas. The minute I get hold of a sock I want to tuck it some place.

I am also something in the way of a garter snapper. When I adjust them each morning it is my custom to finish off with a sort of quick snap finale and many times 15 minutes or so later I find myself sitting in a chair gazing off into a sort of innocuous daze and snapping away at a garter. In more irrepressible moments I accompany the snapping with a whistling tune. "Thank Your Father!" is best of all, but for a slow measured snap "Lover, Come Back to Me!" is not bad.

Men who have important work to do in the world I suppose cannot resort to sock tucking or garter snapping, but for the non-go-getters life in the early morning is greatly enhanced by these simple diversions.

A fellow should have ample time, too, in preparing for a new day to do his tooth paste tube squeezing. How many, with an involuntary shudder, have noticed those quickly pinched tubes dotting strange bath rooms—all flattened in the middle and just a mess? The directions say plainly: "Squeeze only from the end." For years I went through life squeezing paste tubes here and there, higher and yon and during the excitement of the Xmas season often willy-nilly. I've had them burst in the middle and curl at the edge. But today I squeeze the neatest tooth paste tube in our block. You can't go in for morning calisthenics and do a bang-up job of squeezing. It is either one or the other.

What happened? I started out writing something else. It is like that of late. I start to do a certain thing and suddenly find myself doing something entirely different. Yesterday my wife gave me $20 to pay one of her bills and before I realized it I spent every cent on a bunch of blue and white polka dot ties. It upset me terribly. O, yes, I know what I started writing about—Exercise.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Co-educational colleges have not always permitted students of both sexes to mix freely, the Butler Collegian, student publication of Butler University here said after pointing out a ruling of Sept. 2, 1930, which ordered the university president to erect "certain fences for the separation of the groups for the use of the male and female members."

Science Visions Center Of Earth As Conflux Of Waters

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 7 — Pictures of the center of the earth as a vast system of conduits through which sea water is constantly being drawn and expelled in stupendous streams. Dr. Richard Otto Meents, of the geology faculty of Southern Methodist university here, has attacked one of the most widely accepted scientific beliefs, that concerning the causes of the great ocean currents.

Advance New Theory
Advancing a completely new and sensational theory of the structure of the interior of the earth, Dr. Meents believes the core of the globe to be composed of a molten mass with a 9,000 degree Fahrenheit temperature, but of a collection of differing conditions, including vapors, solids and plastic solids.

"Piercing the globe from its surface to its center 4,000 miles below," according to Dr. Meents' theory, "are innumerable fissures or geological openings through which, under the driving force of gravity, the waters of the oceans continually circulate."

"The water is sucked into these fissures from the bottom of the oceans in the equatorial regions, forced by gravity for thousands of miles toward the center of the earth where the currents divide, and then are expelled by the same gravitational force to the surface of the earth in the vicinity of the north or south pole."

The expelled waters pass through fissures, according to the doctor's theory, which he calls conduits.

Blames Shape of Earth

The shape of the world, narrower by 26.8 miles from pole to pole than it is along the equatorial diameter, accounts for the hydrostatic pressure capable of keeping up the circulation of these giant arteries of salt water, Dr. Meents believes. The conduits being 13.4 miles shorter than the intake fissures makes the difference which would account for the pressure.

As a result of these deductions, Dr. Meents concludes that the currents observed on the surface of the seas are created directly and indirectly by the performance of what he terms the "earth-oceanic circulatory law." His announcement of the new theory, he said, followed years of study.

Indirectly, the doctor said in further explaining his theory, both the Gulf Stream and the great Japan current which warms the northern Pacific are created by the suction of fissures in the bottom of the ocean. "Reflecting eddies" propelled by the whirlpools in the bottoms of the ocean are what he calls the currents.

Fissures At Equator

"The fissures are located," according to his supposition, "in the ocean depths in the equatorial region, or those places having a known depth of more than 18,000 feet, of which 57 have been located by oceanographers. Certain other of the 14 known currents are the waters themselves which have circulated through the earth, been expelled at the poles and are traveling back toward the equator on the surface of the sea."

A native German, Dr. Meents is a master of arts from the University of Southern California and a Ph. D. from the University of Oklahoma. He has been on the faculty of Southern Methodist university for the last year.

A moulded bodice, a skirt flared added well below the snug hip, and a bit of hemstitching, complete an exceedingly attractive garment that may be made at home at a nominal cost. Of course, you may trim your slips with lace, but this tailored style launders and wears beautifully. The pattern is marked for a lower back to be worn with evening gown.

Pattern 2106 may be made of crepe de chine or a fine cotton. Popular shades this season are tea rose, banana, flesh and salmon pink. If lace trimming is used, the deep ecru are lovely.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 16 requires 3 1/4 yards of 39 inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

In the Churches

HOLY TRINITY ENGLISH LUTHERAN

East State street at Woodland avenue. Rev. George D. Keister, pastor.

All services will be held in the new church.

Sexagesima Sunday—Festival of dedication. Sunday school, 9:45 (Luke 6: 1-49). H. E. Smith, Supt.

No greater teacher ever lived than Jesus Christ, our Savior, Deep and profound truths were made as plain as day under his instruction. He explained about life, heaven, hell, salvation, God in such a way that none have ever excelled Him as a teacher.

Both Sunday school services and the morning worship will be held in the Sunday school rooms of the new church.

Morning worship, 11. Sermon by Rev. Joseph Stiller, D. D., of Columbus, president of the Synod of Ohio.

The period between Epiphany and Lent is bridged by three Sundays known simply by numbers, as Septuagesima, Sexagesima, and Quinquagesima. They are not exactly 70, 60 and 50 days before Easter as the names would signify, but so named because each falls in the decade of the number by which it is known. The resurrection was the great and important fact to the early church. All events after Epiphany were marked in relation to it. The period of the church in which we are now is often called the pre-Lenten season. Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent is Feb. 12.

Dedication services, 3 p. m. Sermon by Rev. John F. Seibert, D. D., of Chicago, Ill.

Pastors, church council, building committee, choir and congregation will assemble in Sunday school rooms and march in procession to front doors of church. The doors will be opened by the General Contractor J. C. Filler and keys delivered to the pastor. The act of dedication will be performed after the procession has reached the Altar of the Church.

Holy Trinity congregation and pastor desire to express their appreciation for the prayers, good wishes and gifts of members of other churches and friends who have shown their deep interest in our project of building a new church. A most cordial invitation is extended. All pews are free. Our prayer is that we shall through God's grace fulfill the obligation upon us as a Christian church, and do our share of building up the spiritual life of this community, and directing a sin-cursed world to the saving grace of Jesus Christ, the only Savior.

Post-dedication services will be held at the church through the week including Friday. Time is 7:45.

Catechism class meets Saturday at 9 a. m.

Preaching services at the Washington Lutheran church Sunday evening at 7:30.

CHURCH OF OUR SAVIOUR, 870 East State street, Rev. Christian A. Roth, rector.

Services, Sunday, Feb. 8, Sexagesima Sunday or the second Sunday before Lent.

Celebration of the Holy Communion 7:30.

Church school 9:30.

Morning prayer and sermon 11.

The sermon theme is "The Christian and the Family." "With Patience"—Those last words of our Lord's interpretation of the Parable of the Sower are most significant. Indeed, they give us a bird's view of life, for it is not so much what we do as how we do it that tells our character. God looks for spirit of our words and deeds as interpreting the things we do and the words we speak. "With Patience!" And alas! we are so impatient that often we wear ourselves out and accomplish nothing.

Patience is a divine attribute. God is marvelously patient with the world and with each one of us individually. He has waited so long for humanity to accept Him and love Him, and still He is waiting while men are rushing about here and there in a wild effort to accomplish things they know not what He wishes to do with us and for us. We pray, and then we go on as if God had nothing to do with our threefold Christlike growth of body, mind and spirit.

He wishes to "make us" as George MacDonald says, and asks us to work with Him in the making, but we think His process too slow, and we impatiently criticize ourselves and sometimes God because we wish to advance more rapidly. Sometimes we wonder why God can do anything with us, since we cry out (with the poet's license): "I am the master of my fate! I am the captain of my soul!"

Why not let God have His way? Why not loyally and lovingly trust Him even when the sculptor strokes, hurt and the polishing is painful? God loves us and knows what He is doing. He makes no mistakes.

Painting Is Living to Jack von Reppert Bismark, So She Can't Understand Why All This Fuss Is Being Made About Her and Will Attend an Exhibit of Her Work for First Time in New York

MRS JACK VON REPERT BISMARK. SHE OFTEN PAINTS LYING PRONE ON FLOOR

NEW YORK—Famous as a painter, but also as one of the most important and individual of the artists of Europe, on a first visit to America with a round of luncheons, receptions and teas, wealthy and an adoring, handsome young husband, and yet apparently indifferent to all save art and domesticity. That is Jack von Reppert Bismark, who has just arrived in New York for her first American exhibition. It is to be at the Balzac Galleries and 40 paintings are to be shown. The blond young artist, and her husband are staying at the Hotel Chatham. Writers and artists besedge her. And yet she cannot understand just why she must be photographed and interviewed.

Began Work Young
Her work? Why that is part of her. She began to draw when she was a babe. At seven she illustrated the Bible, particularly such episodes as David and Goliath, Daniel and the lions, Noah and the animals in the flood, and episodes in the life of Christ. Then came illustrations of some of Dickens' books, including "Oliver Twist." No vague juvenile scrawlings these, but illustrations that have been included in her European showings.

When Frau Bismark was 13, she entered the Berlin Academy. At that great school she remained one year, and then opened her own studio. Success came quickly to the young blond German girl and her work not only began to interest the leading art critics and connoisseurs but became in demand by collectors. Then came exhibitions in Paris, London and Vienna, none of which the artist ever attended.

Her trip to America marks not only her first attendance at one of her showings, but her first journey anywhere outside her native Germany. She is glad to select New York for her first visit to a foreign metropolis. For the first time she has shown an interest in anything removed from her work. New York to her is as exciting as a fairy story to a child.

Jack von Reppert Bismark has come to America at the invitation of a group of prominent society people, magazine editors and artists. Her great American friend is Lillian Gish, who also represents her favorite feminine type. She already has commissions to paint Miss Gish, Charles Chaplin and Maurice Chevalier.

Hollywood Awaits Her
Hollywood is anxious to meet and entertain her, and if her health permits, she would like to make the journey. Frau Bismark is fragile, an appealing, delicate fragility that is perhaps her greatest charm. It seems difficult to believe that this shy, wistful child has been the subject of innumerable magazine and newspaper articles the world over and that her works are in the possession of some of the leading collectors.

The artist designs all her clothes. She works intensively, generally two weeks at a stretch, day and night.

A gramophone plays wild gypsy music for her, and her eight dogs, many of whom she has painted, romp all over the house. She still lives in the house in which she was born and the studio where she began her work as a child. She began to work by sprawling on the floor with her canvas propped up before her and still frequently paints in this position.

She is intensely feminine despite her quiet, shy demeanor. She uses no cosmetics, preferring, she says, to paint a canvas. But she likes makeup on other women, particularly at night.

Descendant of Bismark
Her husband is a direct descendant of the famous statesman, Bismark, and is also an artist. He is famous in Berlin as a scenic designer.

Their marriage was a real romance. They met when the artist was but 16 and attending her first dance. A fancy dress party, she came dressed as a sailor. Herr Bismark hailed the sailor familiarly as "Jack," and that is why she changed her name. For when her parents spoke disapprovingly to her about such an early love affair, they addressed her as "Elsa." Her name was Von Wenden. But just the same she was married at 17 and since has been known both to the public and friends as "Jack von Reppert Bismark." Her favorite masculine type is Ronald Colman, but her husband looks like a composite of a movie hero and a collar ad model.

Exactness Carried to

Extremes by Japanese

The Japanese people are great imitators. A certain Frenchman, visiting in Japan, had his dress suit ruined by a mishap on the part of a waiter at a dinner. What was to be done? They advised the European to order another dress suit from a Japanese tailor, giving the suit ruined as a model.

"Your suit will be exactly reproduced," they told him. "You will not even have to try it on."

At the end of some days the Japanese tailor brought the finished work.

"This grease stain has given me a great deal of trouble to reproduce," said he, "and that is why I must charge you a trifle higher than what I usually ask."

There the stain was on the new suit, exactly like the original stain on the ruined suit.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Warmth of Brickwork

The bureau of standards says that there are so many types of brick, brick and tile and frame construction that no general statement as to which is warmer will apply to all. In addition to differences in type of wall, differences in workmanship may be important. If complete descriptions of two types of wall are given, it is possible in most cases to calculate from tests which have been made which of the two should be warmer. The heat losses through roof, doors and windows, however, reduced the proportionate effect of the walls themselves to such a considerable extent that there are no large differences in the amounts of fuel required to heat well constructed houses of ordinary types which differ only in wall construction.

THE DAY In Sports

SURE SIGN OF SPRING
CONNIE MACK IN FLORIDA
NO TEAM IN SALEM

Connie Mack, the tall, dignified old gentleman who manages the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, is down in Florida, knocking a golf ball around daily, and otherwise getting in trim for the baseball spring training. Like the appearance of the first robin, it's always a sign of spring when Connie shows up at Fort Myers, Florida.

Soon—late in February—Connie's great ball club will flock into Fort Myers and that pretty little town on the West Coast of Florida will take on added zest. The town likes the A's and the A's like the town.

Every day, except Sunday, the A's pile into buses and are carted to the ball park, about a half-mile from the outskirts of the town. There, this year—as before—you will find Connie Mack on a bench, on the first base sideline watching every detail of the practice and taking as much interest in it as he did 10 or 20 years ago. Old "Kid" Gleason and Eddie Collins, whom the players affectionately call "Rocky" and "the ball around the field and keep the rookies and veterans alike on their toes.

Mack, a keen judge of baseball, as everyone knows, predicts a close race in the American League this year.

He thinks Washington has a great club; that the Yankees are "always dangerous" and that if the Cleveland Indians and the St. Louis Browns take on just a little more power where they need it most, they, too, will be mighty hard to beat. One of Connie's tasks this spring will be to keep the A's from becoming over-confident.

Stonemen Play Poorly As Harding High Wins Rough Cage Tilt, 36-30

Salem High's cage quintet which ten days ago had rung up its eighth victory but which since that time has failed to put up an impressive exhibition of basketball, tonight exploits its testing talents against a proven factor in Northeastern Ohio court activities, meeting the St. Mary's High varsity of Akron in the feature tile of a three-game schedule at the high school.

Quaker cagers are trying to forget all about a basketball game played at Warren last night and will endeavor to start out anew when they clash with the St. Mary's team, one of Ohio's leading Class B aggregations and which two years ago marched through state-wide competition to win the Ohio interscholastic championship in its own class.

Warren Wins 26-30

Against St. Mary's tonight the Stonemen will be attempting to climb out of the slump which has marred their performance for the past two weeks and which last night characterized their play as Warren High triumphed over them in a grueling 36-30 struggle. Little remains to be told of the game except that Warren outclassed Salem for the greater part of the contest, practically eliminating the Quakers from the ranks of contenders for championship laurels in the Northeastern Ohio Big Ten league.

Warren held a slight edge in the combat for first two periods, then started rolling up a decisive lead in the third period as Dowdell, handily colored forward, ran wild in a sensational scoring spree. Salem at no time was able to flash a strong offense.

Stone Uses Scrubs

The contest was not only a disappointment to fans but also to Coach Floyd Stone who directs the destinies of Salem High's athletic teams. Dissatisfied with the showing of the combination of talent which has shown itself superior to so many teams rated much higher than Warren, Stone inserted his junior varsity quintet into the fray early in the second half and Warren was outplayed for the first time during the game.

The defeat cannot entirely be said to have been a crushing example of poor basketball by the Stonemen. Stone has been addicted to the misfortune of combating opposing teams when they are having one of the evenings they only get to enjoy once a year and that's just what Warren had last night. Dowdell put up a performance similar to that of Ed Smith of East Palestine not long ago, ran wild on offense and played well defensively while all other members of Coach Pierre Hill's outfit outdid themselves in manner that was sensational and surprising even to Warren fans.

Salem Offense Fails

From all indications the Quakers had a powerful offense but it was unable to work with success, the team setting the ball under Warren's basket without scoring time after time. The offensive work might have been worse but the defense was most deplorable. Warren scoring ten points on "easier" shots, Salem, on the other hand, had to earn all its points and several times, after earning some, didn't get them due to that guarding ability of Warren's defenses.

Stone's junior varsity made things plenty interesting for Warren when it succeeded the Salem regulars and at times threatened to nose out the opposition. The lead the varsity had granted the Warrenites was too great for the juvenile quintet to overcome. Warren stalling most of the fourth period in order to maintain its edge in scoring fearful that the second-stringers might slump ahead.

The Tasty Hot Sandwich

For the schoolboy's home lunch, that substantial snack demanded late at night, there's nothing like a sandwich. Part of a cooked roast in the icebox provides the ideal basis. Bread, soaked by toasted on one side only. A quick way to heat the meat is to place a slice of inviting thickness between two slices of buttered bread and press together firmly. Toast one side, then turn the whole sandwich and toast the other. In this way the outer crust of both slices of bread will be pleasantly crisp, but not too crackly, because the inside is still soft, and the meat will become satisfactorily hot in the meanwhile. Place on hot plates, and put a generous spoonful or two of hot gravy on the side. (Drenching the whole sandwich with gravy is preferred by some, but is less attractive in appearance.)

If there isn't a left-over roast available, then almost anything can be converted into a hot sandwich. Providing the larder affords some spicy accompaniments. Chopped pickle mixed with chopped hard-boiled eggs and mixed to a paste with a little mayonnaise, may be the foundation. Add to this any other substantial ingredient on hand. Flaked fish—cooked or canned, will do; or spread the bread with this mixture, then place one or two slices of bacon on top. Put under the broiler and remove when the bacon is crisp.

If there's the bacon on hand, several varieties of hot sandwiches are easy to prepare. Toast one side of a bread, then spread with a slice of cheese and a top with bacon. Place under the broiler and turn the bacon once. Bacon and cheese should be a light brown and very tasty. A dash of prepared mustard with any cheese or meat filling improves the hot sandwich a lot.

PORTLAND, Ore.—A statistically-minded soul scanned a postal guide and learned that there are 21 Portlanders in the United States with a combined population of a little more than 400,000, more than 300,000 of whom live here.

France insists that her war loans shall be paid on the present value of the franc.

Today's Pattern

Suitable for most any occasion and smart beyond words, this frock with bolero front, bodice and skirt attached. It is quite simple, too, and easy to make. The bolero is bound, and held together with a bow of self material. The graceful skirt flare is joined in an upward point that follows the cut of the bolero.

Pattern 2087 makes up beautifully in flat crepe, satin or faille. Choose black, blue, green, rust, or brown in solid color or print for an ideal spring frock.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4 3/8 yards of 38 inch fabric.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

MOVIES In Talkie Role

Marion Davies is starred in "The Bachelor Father".

Salem moviegoers are transferred from serious drama which has predominated talking picture entertainment here for the past two weeks into a series of programs of lighter type in the schedule of attractions at the State and Grand next week. Comedy numbers which will appear here include "Bachelor Father," "Monte Carlo" and "Follow Through."

Late Screen Hit

The picture "Bachelor Father" is one of the latest screen vehicles released from Hollywood being shown for the first time in North-eastern Ohio when it appears at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Featured in the picture is Marion Davies while a strong supporting cast is composed of Ralph Forbes, C. Aubrey Smith, Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, David Torrence and Nena Quater.

Two western thrillers also appear here during the week, the outstanding of them being "The Santa Fe Trail" in which Richard Arlen returns to two-gun heroism roles. The Ideal shows George O'Brien in "Fair Warning" Friday and Saturday while the Arlen thriller shows at the Grand on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Jack Buchanan Starred
"Monte Carlo," at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday features Jack Buchanan and Jeannette MacDonald in starring singing and dancing characterizations. This picture, a musical comedy, was directed by Ernst Lubitsch and is taken from an episode in "Monsieur Beaucaire" by Booth Tarkington. ZaSu Pitts, Albert Conti, Tyler Brooks, Claude Allister and others form the supporting cast.

There's plenty of comedy and romance to be found in "Follow Through," at the State first three days starting Monday. Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Nancy Carroll, Zella O'Neal, Jack Haley and others compose a starring cast, the picture being studded with numerous song hits and interesting and humorous incidents on golf courses which will prove attractive to golfing addicts.

Palette In New Role
Eugene Palette, who enacted the role of the illiterate detective in William Powell's S. S. Van Dine murder mysteries, takes a new role in "The Santa Fe Trail." Palette appears as a buddy to Arlen in Arizona where men are men and women are the incentive motives in gun duels that bring out plenty of adventure in the picture. Rosita Morena makes her talking debut in the vehicle while Mimi Green and Junior Durkin in juvenile roles add plenty of comedy to the entertainment values of the drama.

"Paid," in which without doubt is Joan Crawford's best dramatic performance of her meteoric career, is shown for the last time tonight at the State while "Reducing" with Polly Moran and Marie Dressler is the Grand's feature.

New Jersey Girl Stars In Collegiate Operetta

Selected from several hundred candidates, Miss Mary Joan Smith, of Atlantic City, N. J., student in journalism at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., will play the lead in "Free for All," the first all-student musical production to be presented at the university.

URGES ADOPTION OF BIMETALISM TO AID COUNTRY

American Mining Engineer Has Prosperity Theory

DENVER, Feb. 7.—A return to bimetalism is the only hope of the world for a return to industrial prosperity, according to Dr. Henry Mace Payne, consulting engineer for the American Mining congress, who spoke before a group of Colorado mining men in Denver, recently.

More than half the world's population, Dr. Payne said, desires silver currency, which has been destroyed as a purchasing power by legislative action.

"The great commonwealths of the United States are rich beyond the dreams of Midas," he said. "They should be creating opportunities for employment instead of legislating against imaginary sins."

Gold mining is due for a prosperous year, according to Dr. Payne. He pointed out that the slackness in the base metal industry made this possible.

Dr. Payne emphasized the value of the payroll in mining communities. Denver, he said, should be "mining minded" because of the great payroll turnover in mining communities.

"This city should launch a campaign to advertise the mineral resources of Colorado and to restore mining to the place it once occupied in the industrial life of the state," he declared.

Dr. Payne also recommended a return to bimetalism by the leading nations of the world as the remedy for the prevailing industrial depression. The entire continent of Asia, he said, has been reduced to one-fourth of its purchasing power by the demonetization of silver in India.

MANY people fail to build bank reserves that could help them meet opportunities and overcome adversity, simply because they think they are unable to save.

On the other hand, the successful saver steadily builds his wealth because he first thinks he is able to do so and then proves his ability.
